

The Eye Institute at Falls Center: Opportunity for Growth

On December 1st 2010, The Eye Institute opened a new optometric practice and optical store at the Falls Center Complex, 3300 Henry Avenue. This location represents a community based satellite office of The Eye Institute (TEI), which serves as the clinical practice of the Pennsylvania College of Optometry at Salus University. The Eye Institute's main clinical facility is located at 1200 West Godfrey Avenue in the Oak Lane neighborhood of Philadelphia.

The newly renovated space in the Falls Center Complex provides an exciting opportunity for growth in a vibrant campus location. In addition to the modern office space and optical department, TEI's newest location provides free parking and is easily accessible by public transportation.

The Eye Institute's staff at all locations (East Falls, Oak Lane and Mt. Airy) are part of the social and economic life of the communities they serve, while remaining on the cutting edge of clinical training and state-of-the-art vision care. The Eye Institute's professional staff looks forward to bringing quality eye care to the East Falls community.

The Eye Institute's Mission and Services

The Eye Institute provides comprehensive vision care, while providing the highest quality clinical training to the next generation of primary eye care physicians. In pursuit of its mission, TEI offers a vast array of services for the visual needs of persons of all ages and to manage routine and not so routine vision and ocular health problems.

The vision care provided at The Eye Institute represents a multidisciplinary approach that involves the services of opticians, optometric technicians, optometric physicians, ophthalmologists, and student doctors. The Eye Institute prides itself on being considered the "neighborhood eye care provider."

The services provided include Eyeglass prescriptions; Comprehensive ocular health evaluation with pupil dilation; Contact lens fitting/follow up care; Testing and treatment for glaucoma; Cataract evaluation; Diabetic eye health evaluations; Emergency eye care; On site expert opticians; Extensive eye-wear selection.

If surgical or medical consultations are necessary, referral to one of The Eye Institute's many specialty ophthalmologists will be made.

The Eye Institute (TEI) is the clinical practice of the Pennsylvania College of Optometry. From 1919 through 1932, the then Pennsylvania State College of Optometry (the College became the Pennsylvania College of Optometry (PCO) in 1964) was located at 1909 Spring Garden Street in downtown Philadelphia. In 1933, the College relocated to Oak Lane at 12th Street and Godfrey Avenue, where it significantly expanded its facilities, including building The Eye Institute in 1978. After 65 years in Oak Lane, the College purchased the Breyer Office Park in Elkins Park and moved its academic and administrative functions to the new campus in 1998. The Eye Institute remained in Oak Lane and continued to be a community anchor, providing more than 60,000 patient visits annually, through a combination of primary and specialty vision care services.
